

Summer is approaching quickly.

For some of you the activity will slow down or even have partial closing but for others it may well be a hard working time.

Be assured that AirVision will be available during whole summer as we are used to for the past 20 years already.

20 years already!

The story of AirVision started indeed in 1999 to become, 20 years later, a major player on the market for industrial axial and centrifugal fans.

AirVision offers also solutions for flow regulation such as dampers and registers, acoustic solutions with silencers and complete acoustic cabinet, and an after sales service able to follow you around the world.

To celebrate this anniversary, AirVision would like to thank the customers of the first hour but also those who joined our adventure during the past years. We have prepared a nice surpise that you will find out in September!

AirVision wishes you a nice holiday !!
